

POSTHUMOUS AWARD

Wing Com. Lloyd Chadburn, 24, winner of the DSO and bar and DFC before his death, has been posthumously awarded the Chevalier of the Legion of Honour and the Croix de Guerre with Palm by the French government. His mother, Mrs. F. G. Allen, formerly of Aurora and now living at 230 St. George St., Toronto, was notified last week of the honor bestowed on her son. The young airman had 14 enemy planes to his credit in as many months' combat. He was brought down by anti-aircraft fire, not a Nazi fighter pilot. He died of injuries in the Allied-held section of Normandy a week after he crashed, in June, 1944.

STOVEPIPE BLAZE DOES LITTLE DAMAGE

Newmarket—The Newmarket fire brigade was called to Deane's Restaurant Monday night to extinguish a fire in the stove pipe in the kitchen. There were only three customers in the restaurant at the time. Mrs. Myrtle McNight first saw the smoke coming from the pipe and called the chef, Bill Cox, who called the firemen. The firemen used hand pumps to put out the small blaze.

On Sunday the brigade answered a call to Davis Dr. and Charles St. where a cigarette had set fire to a mattress.

LIONS CLUB TOLD OF SUMMER TRIPS

Newmarket—The Lions club resumed its twice-monthly meetings Monday night with a dinner meeting in the hall of St. Paul's Anglican church. The new officers conducted the meeting with President Robert Pritchard as chairman.

A feature of the meeting were the accounts of two conventions which had been attended by Newmarket Lions. Fred S. Thompson told of the meeting in Windsor early in the summer which he attended as deputy district governor. Frank Courtney told of a "good will" trip taken by Canadian Lions through the United States to the San Francisco meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Courtney, Mrs. Rena Bosworth, Mrs. Gerald Wainman made the trip. At San Francisco, Mr. Courtney represented Newmarket at the Lions convention there.

REPORT LOOSE DOGS TO POLICE — MAYOR

Newmarket—The town council Monday night heard complaints against the growth of weeds and damage done by dogs which, according to by-law, should be tied up during the summer months. The shortage of help was cited as the reason for the unlimited growth of weeds and the property committee was asked to hire extra men to do the cutting. As to loose dogs, Mayor Joseph Vale's advice was to report loose dogs to the police for action against their owners.

'Walk By-Law Lost On Second Reading

Newmarket—A by-law to prevent merchants from using part of the sidewalks to display their wares was defeated on the second reading in Newmarket town council Monday night by a 5-4 vote.

The by-law would have rescinded an existing by-law which allows merchants to use up to 18 inches of sidewalk space for displaying their wares. Although in existence for nearly 50 years, there is no recollection of it ever having been enforced recently.

The by-law was defeated over Mayor Vale's protests that the sidewalks of Newmarket are too narrow to permit even 18 inches of walk to be used for display. "What are we going to have now?" he asked. "The police walking up and down Main St. with a ruler in their hands?"

The by-law had earlier been considered but laid aside by council. "Our objection earlier was that there was no enforcement of the existing by-law (18-inch display)," said Councillor Thomas Birrell. "If it had been enforced it would have been alright. What is the use of having laws if they are not enforced?"

The new by-law also prohibited the selling of goods on the sidewalks and was aimed at the practice of selling out of trucks parked on Main St. Some councillors objected that it would be impossible to prevent merchants from selling on the street. "You can't stop selling on the sidewalks any more than you can stop customers looking in the windows," said Councillor H. J. Luck.

The by-law applied to the streets leading off Main St. as well as Main St. itself. It did have a section to permit the use of sidewalks for sorting and moving goods into the stores.

Councillor R. C. Morrison said that if the old by-law were enforced it would serve the purpose. "It is not practical," Mayor Vale contended. "The law is too stringent," Councillor Frank Bowser insisted. "The sidewalks of Newmarket are too narrow to permit any encroachment on them," Mayor Vale replied. He cited instances where he had received complaints that women with baby carriages had been forced to use the road to get by.

COUNCIL CHAMBERS EMPTIED BY ALARM

Newmarket—As a climax to the debate over the parking by-law, the fire whistle blew and the council chambers were emptied in a trice as members hastened to the fire. Councillor Frank Bowser, a stalwart of the fire brigade, led the rush to the door and had the engine of the fire truck going before the other councillors reached the sidewalk.

Funds Sought For West-Side Playground

Aurora—Under the leadership of Councillor Thomas Swindle, a drive for funds to provide a playground for small children on the west side of Yonge St. has started and is meeting with enthusiastic success. The playground is located on the property of Eric Quinn, Tyler St., and "the project is being developed to demonstrate the value of local playgrounds to provide good, healthy fun and enjoyment for the children and keep them off the street."

"Traffic conditions in this area are very hazardous for small children playing on the streets. Why wait for a tragedy? Let us do something now," said Mr. Swindle. Contributions for the funds are being accepted by the Bank of Montreal, the Imperial Bank, Marshall Bank and Mr. Swindle. A statement of receipts and expenditures will be published in the press in due time. As those interested are anxious to proceed to purchase needed equipment without delay, an immediate response is requested from those interested.

Letters to the editor are always welcome.

G. L. BOYNTON ON P.S. BOARD

Newmarket—G. L. Boynton, Pleasantview Ave., was appointed school trustee for the remainder of the year at the meeting of the Newmarket public school board on Friday night. He replaces C. Morden Carter whose resignation was accepted at the meeting. Mr. Carter said he was resigning because of the pressure of business.

According to the public schools act, the appointment of a public school trustee is to be made by the board at its next regular meeting after the meeting at which the resignation of one of its members is accepted.

The appointment of Mrs. C. Morden Carter as school attendance officer was also ratified at the meeting. She succeeds Mrs. O. P. Hamilton who resigned from the position in June. At that time Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Allen J. Cody both applied for the position and each was nominated. A ballot was called for and two members voted for each nominee. Mr. Carter was not present at that meeting.

Mr. Carter intimated in June that he intended to resign from the board but had not yet submitted his resignation. At that time the deciding ballot was cast in favor of Mrs. Carter as attendance officer "provided that Mr. Carter submits his resignation". The matter was then left in abeyance.

At the meeting on Friday night, Mrs. N. L. Mathews said (Page 10, Col. 6)

Fire Destroys Two Barns Shortly After Threshing

About 4,000 bushels of grain, 30 pigs, ten calves and a two-year-old bull were lost when the barn of Ivan Kay burned to the ground last Thursday at his farm a mile and a half south of Pleasantville.

The season's crop had been threshed the same morning and it was entirely destroyed in the fire. Mr. Kay said that the barn was well covered with insurance.

The fire started between 3 and 4 p.m. Mrs. Norman Kay, Mr. Kay's mother, said she was working in the garden and first saw the flames in the straw stack at the north end of the barn. Threshing had been finished that morning around 10 o'clock but it was done in the south end of the barn. It is not known how the fire started.

Mr. Kay was threshing at Greenwood's, the next farm north of the Kay farm, so there were no men when the fire started. When he saw the flames, he rushed back to the barn but the fire had too much headway to save any of the stock.

"If I had been around I could have saved most of the calves and maybe some of the others," said Mr. Kay. Both Newmarket and Aurora fire crews were called to the Kay farm and the Aurora pump truck was used, getting its water from the well near the barn. The Newmarket fire truck had engine trouble on the way out and was unable to reach the fire. The new fire truck on order for several months is expected by the end of the month.

There was threshing that day at the nearby farms of Angus Cameron, Lorne Mahoney and Bill Hamilton and several men from these farms together with a crew from Sharon removed implements from the barn and shed which also burned. All the stock was saved except a pig and a few hens.

Yorks To Demonstrate Use of Army Vehicles

Aurora—C Squadron of the 25th Armored Regiment, Queen's York Rangers, are holding a demonstration of tank driving, wireless and tank gunnery on Sunday, Sept. 14, at 2 p.m. This will take place at the farm of F. Williams on the second concession road of King, one mile and a half north of Wellington St.

The object of this demonstration is to encourage dependable and conscientious young men to join the squadron and bring it up to reserve army strength. Any young man, 18 years or over, who would like the opportunity of seeing and riding in the latest Sherman tank, may do so on Sunday.

C Squadron starts its fall and winter training today at the Aurora Armouries. Any young man who is interested or desirous of enlisting in the squadron is welcomed at 8 p.m. any Tuesday or Thursday night at the armouries. The training will be very intensive and falls into four main groups, basic training, tank driving and maintenance, wireless sending and receiving, and maintenance and gunnery. This training will be carried out under experienced instructors.

NEW FEATURE

Next week's issue of The Era and Express will see the first appearance of a regular feature, Newmarket High-Lights, a column of Newmarket high school news and doings, conducted by Elaine Robinson. Edited for and written by Newmarket high school students, the column will be devoted exclusively to activities at the school. Secretaries of the various school societies are asked to get in touch with Miss Robinson.

Water, Light Service For Kennedy St. In '47

Aurora—The council approved light and water services on Kennedy St. E. this year but left over the matter of sewers until legal difficulties are ironed out in the area. Materials needed for the future for George, Catharine and Kennedy Sts. were ordered however, by council. "We talk about things like this but don't get any action between meetings," said Mayor Ross Linton at a council meeting last week.

A new roof for the water works residence was approved on recommendation of the property committee. Town clerk Harold Clark reported he expected the approved fire escapes for the school rooms at the old town hall would be constructed soon.

The cleaning out of the creek from the waterworks to Wellington St. was urged by Councillor Swindle as a means of preventing further floods and town foreman James Goulding promised this would be done as help was available.

BREAKS ARM

Newmarket—Bob Howlett had his arm broken Wednesday while working at Smith's bowling alleys.

New Parking By-Law Given Rough Passage

Newmarket—Amendments to the traffic by-law which would prohibit parking on Thursday, Friday and Saturday on the east side of Main St. were left neither approved nor formally rejected by the Newmarket town council Monday night as the fire whistle brought a hasty adjournment of the meeting.

The amendments to the by-law had been introduced by the chairman of the police committee, Councillor R. C. Morrison, following discussions with the police. "The committee has been under some pressure from council 'to do something about the congestion on Main St.' and the proposed amendments, were the committee's answer.

Briefly, the amendments allow unlimited parking on both sides of Main St. on Sundays, Mondays, Tuesday and Wednesdays and on the west side of Main St. on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays. Parking is prohibited on the east side of Main St. on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays from Water St. to Queen St.

The amendments were brought in at an earlier meeting and minor changes made. The third reading was given Monday night but no vote was taken. Several members voiced objection to the restrictions.

The objections to the proposed regulations were mainly that there was not sufficient alternative parking space for the cars that couldn't park on Main St. It was argued that the effect of the new law would force parking on private property, jam intersections and drive away trade.

Purpose Of Amendments "What does the police committee hope to accomplish by this new 'law'?" asked Deputy-Reeve J. L. Spillette. "It will clear Main St. to through-traffic and force greater use of available parking space in lots and up the side streets," said Mr. Morrison. He said he had counted only five cars parked behind Trinity United church although Main St. was jammed last Saturday night.

Enforcement of the existing by-law which limits parking to one hour and prohibits double parking was said to be all that is needed. "But it is not enforced," said one member. "Does the council wish me to take the men off the night patrol and put them on traffic duty during the day?" asked Mr. Morrison. There was no answer.

Complaints Of Booksellers Answered By Principal

Newmarket—H. A. Jackson, supervising principal of the three Newmarket public schools, took exception to an article appearing in last week's issue of The Era and Express at the meeting of the public school board on Friday night.

"In the article, the school supply dealers comment on the rush of people on the opening day of school. Mr. Jackson said, 'In my opinion, such a condition is to be expected because of the fact that there are 645 public school pupils to serve, in addition to an estimated 370 high school students, or a total of over 1,000 students.'

"The theme of the complaint is that if the lists of required books were published sooner, some of the rush would be avoided," he continued. "Actually most people wouldn't purchase their books until the first day of school anyway. Members of the public school staff think it unfair that they are charged with lack of co-operation in failing to notify the bookstores beforehand of the pupils' requirements. In my opinion there is no group more anxious to co-operate than the teachers are. If no other reason than it is of assistance to them in that the pupils will be ready for work immediately."

"The paper quoted me correctly as having said that this year lists outside of the authorized texts could not be given because of the seven new teachers on the staff. I had no idea of the supplementary helps which they would require," he said.

Difference In Brands "In connection with teachers asking to purchase certain brands, it is undoubtedly true that particular makes of certain supplies are superior to others. Even though the price may be a little higher in some instances, a better quality article will, of course, result in better work and give more satisfaction to the pupil. The teachers feel they have a right to request a particular brand of article because of the better results they themselves can achieve and also because it appears that the brands that have been asked for in Newmarket are procurable."

"Sometimes it is difficult or even impossible to predict the exact requirements before the close of school in June. A certain supplementary help may not live up to expectations. A better help may be discovered. (Page 7, Col. 7)

UNION DELEGATE

W. L. Grant, formerly of Newmarket, has recently been elected by local 165, of which he is president, International Chemical Workers Union, A.F. of L., to attend the annual international convention which is to be held this year at Washington, D.C., early in September. Local 165 is the bargaining agent for the employees of the North American Cynamid, Welland Works, Ltd., plant at Niagara Falls, Ont. Mr. Grant is also president of the Port Robinson recreation club, softball and hockey clubs. Last year he served on the executive of the O.R.I.A. and refused the presidency of the Wainfleet softball league as his wife was seriously ill at that time. The Port Robinson softball team is entered in the intermediate A group and is now entering the second round of the O.R.S.A. play-downs.

MAKE CHOICE ACCORDING TO MARKETS

As the dollar crisis has developed, there has been strong insistence from various quarters that Canada revise its trade pattern by reducing imports to the United States. That is the only way, it is argued, that Canada can reduce its currently heavy trade deficit with its neighbor.

The alternative is suggested in the plea last week of the Foreign Secretary of Great Britain, Ernest Bevin, for a commonwealth customs union. As a member of such a union, Canada would be obliged to reduce its imports from the United States, buying within the commonwealth those necessities now imported from the south.

The first would have the effect of making Canada more a part of the dollar area than it is. The second would make Canada, as a primary producer, a keystone in the sterling bloc. As it is, Canada has stood squarely between the two blocs, using its trade surplus to sterling countries as a means to reduce its deficit with the major dollar country, United States. That position is no longer tenable with Britain and other sterling countries heavy debtors of the United States.

What Canada will choose to do is open to question. There has been no indication, up to time of writing, of specific policy from Ottawa. Canada could try and maintain its position as third party in its traditional three-way economic pattern, restricting currency movement to the south, devaluing its dollar, seeking exception to the suspension of the pound convertibility clause. Or it may choose to either abandon its economic ties with Great Britain in favor of throwing in with the dollar nations, or else join a commonwealth customs union and the sterling bloc.

The three choices each has much to recommend them; each has its faults. There can be no doubt, however, that a choice will have to be made, and in the making, bring certain hardships as the lesser evils to a complete breakdown, of the national economy. It may be that Ottawa's indecision, its failure to announce a definite policy, has been caused by an inability to distinguish between short-term disadvantages and long-term depression.

Canadians are proud of their political independence. They sometimes confuse it with economic independence. The fact is that Canada, more than any other nation in the world today, is economically dependent on others. Producing from its broad prairies, its vast forests and its limitless mines more than it can ever use at home, Canada must rely upon the markets provided by others for its prosperity.

For Canada to remain solvent, its future markets must be examined both for their durability and their ability to pay. That is plainly Ottawa's first duty. The choice of traditional centre man between dollar and sterling blocs, or either sterling or dollar association, must be made on those findings.

USED BOOKS FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The rush of school children upon bookshelves has become a regular, if disturbing, feature of opening day of school. The dealers have given their version of the cause of the rush, and in this issue, Mr. H. A. Jackson, supervising principal of Newmarket public schools, replies.

Without considering the merits of standardizing or keeping flexible those optional study helps on which the teachers exercise individual choice, we think the issue boils down to the very human folly of leaving everything to the last minute. There are many who, no doubt, would purchase their books in advance if given the opportunity. The majority, however, would leave it to the last minute.

In any event, the standardized texts can be purchased ahead of time and if everyone were to do so, the rush would be greatly minimized.

There is one aspect of the textbook situation which hasn't been mentioned. That is ways of reducing the costs to parents of books for two or three children of public school age. The high school has a method of marketing used books. Why couldn't the public schools also handle the sale of those standardized books which are in use year after year?

Possibly the Home and School Association could take over this task, keeping a small commission in return for application to any one of the number of projects they have underway. A saving would be enjoyed by parents during a time of high prices, and extra revenue derived for improvement of the schools.

LESSON FOR EVERYONE

Fires cost two farmers their barns and some of their stock last week. More discouraging, was the loss of their newly-threshed crops. In one instance, threshing had been completed at 10 o'clock in the morning and the fire broke out some five hours after while the owner was helping with the threshing on an adjoining farm.

The loss of crops is not one to be reckoned in money only. An impending feed shortage adds value beyond the current market price, and who can put a charge on the inconvenience, the time-consuming search for scarce feed in later months. And how heart-breaking it is to watch the fruit of the fields so carefully tended to their maturity, sweated over and prayed over in time of drought and rain, consumed by fire.

Every year, millions of dollars damage is done by fire. The unfortunate experience of two district farmers should heighten in us all an awareness of the need for caution.

WHY NOT A DEMOCRATIC 'BLOC'?

There was considerable fuss a few days back over the comments on international issues of our governor-general. There was, it seems, grave concern in Ottawa over the propriety of a governor-general speaking his mind before a public audience. However, there has been nothing further in the papers so it appears the matter has been dropped. Rightly so. There need never have been any fuss in the first place. As a people jealous of our right to speak our minds as we wish, why should we make an exception of a governor-general?

Apart from this, Viscount Alexander's comments are worth noting. He is a man of much experience in international affairs and is certainly not one to talk for the pleasure of hearing himself speak. It can be taken for granted that his remarks are well considered, and should be well considered by his listeners.

Viscount Alexander said among other things, that nations which share common backgrounds should unite to the exclusion of others which are antipathetic. It is not a new consideration. Mr. Clarence Streit has been advocating that for years in a series of books which, for the heavy-weight of their material, attained a remarkably high number of readers.

It is foolish to insist on agreement where there can be no agreement. In Munich days, such a practice earned the name "appeasement"; a term which was equally applicable to the United States' attitude towards Russia up to the Stuttgart speech of the former secretary of state, Mr. Byrnes, and the subsequent appointment of General Marshall.

There could be no real agreement between Nazi Germany and Great Britain—there was no common tradition, no common background. Equally, there can now be no real agreement between the democracies and Russia for the same reason. Why then, persist in pretending there exists a joint intention? The folly of it becomes all the more obvious when it is remembered how often Russia has exercised the veto in the United Nations council, a practice which if continued will wreck that body.

The average citizen in a democracy has an abhorrence for "bloes", possibly because twice in 20 years, he was called to fight against first the Prussian bloc and then the "Axis". Yet while he denounces the grouping of nations, his leaders are demonstrating agreement with that belief. The Truman Doctrine, for example, is an extension of the British policy; the assumption of that task by the United States as Britain found itself unable to do it, is the action of partners in the same belief.

A democratic bloc including the British Commonwealth and the United States, possesses enough resources to at least make a start on a democratic peace. In such a bloc, while there would be disagreement, there would be no veto to protect the state's assumption of superiority over the individual which has so far delayed progress in international amity.

What Others Think THE ONE-ROOM SCHOOLHOUSE

(The Financial Post)

From the soft depths of big chairs in city clubs we have several times heard about the passing of the old-time schoolhouse. These country-boys-become-corporation-presidents were looking back proudly on their own heroism in "trudging three miles through the snow and lighting the fire when I got there." The younger generation, say they, has it much easier.

The old one-room schoolhouse is still very much with us, according to a report of the National Committee for School Health Research.

The back-of-the-lot privy, where the youth of the land enlarged its vocabulary and its calligraphic skill, still prevails in 71 percent of the nation's one-room schools. Only three percent have inside flush toilets.

There is no artificial lighting of any kind in 80 percent of the one-roomers; 82 percent are heated by stoves in the classroom, 30 percent have too few windows for adequate light on bright days. In 44 percent the school water, almost always from wells and streams, is "seldom or never tested." For another 27 percent the answer on that was "occasionally." On washing facilities, 73 percent had some without running water; 22 percent had none at all. In 0.8 percent of rural schools lunch is provided. In 18 percent one hot dish or one hot drink is provided. In six percent milk is available.

Apparently a lot of young Canada, when it grows up, will be able to continue telling tales of its grim, heroic struggle against the three R's.

The foregoing facts — plus the facts about schoolteacher salaries — make this one less surprising. Inspectors were asked to report on the mental health of the teachers in their charge. In 11 percent of the Canadian inspectorates 10 percent of the teachers were rated as "inferior in mental health," which presumably means nervous, wrecked, frustrated, depressed, "mildly nuts." One inspector said 60 percent of his teachers were that way. But then, that was only his opinion.

A LESSON FROM THE 'EX'

(The Richmond Hill Liberal)

A Richmond Hill resident who visited the Canadian National Exhibition carried away with him a vivid impression of the countless opportunities now before Canadians. To him the Exhibition provided outstanding evidence that there is and can be in the years to come employment for everyone.

He, and, indeed, every thinking person who visited the C.N.E. must have recognized how almost unlimited are our demands and the demands of our neighbors for homes, furniture, equipment, personal requirements, etc. Human wants and desires increase as incomes increase. Folks want things that years ago they never expected they could have, such as machinery for the farm and labor-saving equipment for the home.

About the only limit to human demands appears to be the ability of the people to spend money. So long as folks continue to earn, workshops and factories will be kept busy producing the things they want, and as demands increase, manufacturing facilities for producing the things wanted will be increased.

Viewing the picture from every angle, there seems no ground to fear any serious or prolonged industrial depression.

In His Own Image

By J. JAY WATSON

"In His Own Image made He man."

Boys and girls reaching the age of reason may be said to be engaging in the art of sculpture on the human plane.

A sculptor takes a block of marble and with his chisel and mallet can carve out of it the likeness of a man. The child begins with thoughts in embryo, the power of observation plus the power called conscience. These are the marble in the rough, expressing themselves by a line here, another there and always, if the finished statue is to become a worthy one, looking toward creating among its contacts an atmosphere productive of happiness.

When we look at the rough marble, its potential beauty and perfection are hidden within. The sculptor with his tools makes it speak. The human statue has beauty and perfection within and the tools of gentleness, sympathy and creative culture with which God endows man will give to it expression that mirrors the Divine.

GROUP RAISES COST

In a recent issue of The Era and Express, R. C. Morrison, chairman of the Newmarket recreation commission, said that the commission had spent $75 for a loan for the handicraft group. Mr. Morrison said later that the amount had been placed on the commission's books so that a provincial grant of 20 percent might be had but that the money had actually been raised by the handicraft group.

THE COMMON ROUND OUT OF EGYPT (CON'T.)

Through the ages we have heard a great deal of leaders in the scientific research, in the fine arts, in political life and in war. They have had, as far as I can see, two things in common: courage and vision. Some were good, some were not so good and some were definitely evil. But they all had these qualities of leadership. They could make men see with their eyes and hear with their ears. They had, whether it was good or bad, greatness.

During the last war, we had three men who led the standard of leadership, were outstandingly great—two good and one definitely evil.

Churchill and Roosevelt, lovers of humanity and champions of the underdog; Hitler, arrogant, hater of humanity unless with the German label, but able to make his followers see with his eyes. In the end, as it always will, the good triumphed but has left us in these succeeding years in a world where old values, old ideas and ideals—and to be frivolous for a moment—old prices are in the discard and we are left bewildered, finding it hard to adopt ourselves to a world where fear seems to underlie all the intercourse of nation with nation. The atomic bomb and the Russian Bear do not seem to make for world peace.

Only Few Years

However, our discomfort has only been for a few years. Think of wandering in a wilderness, literally, I mean, as well as the wilderness of fear and doubt which uncertainty is sure to breed. I am thinking of Moses who led those uncertain, down-trodden Israelites out of Egypt.

He had to be an Abraham Lincoln with his unalterable belief that all men are equal and have the God-given right to freedom. Lincoln had vision and in spite of all the abuse that was heaped upon him, in spite of ridicule, opposition and at last, civil war between two parts of a country he loved, he brought his dream of a nation where all men were free to pass, although he paid the supreme sacrifice before he really saw "government by the people, of the people and for the people in its entirety. Maybe he watches from some bright haven the struggle that still goes on between the black and the white races—the blacks free but certainly not with the freedom Lincoln dreamed of.

He was the man of his era's hour as Churchill and Roosevelt were. All were crusaders—militant against a common evil—oppression of the weak by the strong—against the slogan that "might is right". Churchill the fighter, the fiery orator, symbolizing in his own personality the bull dog tenacity that Britons can show when driven to it and inspiring them to make a stand that amazed the world.

Roosevelt, suave, compelling, with a personal appeal that made his listeners feel he was talking directly to them, a humanitarian who loved his fellows and whose goodwill embraced the world. A fighter, too, and with a vision of Utopia. Perhaps he, too, watches the struggle of some nations for power and some for survival.

Moses was the prototype of these men. He had, in the first place, been born a slave just as Booker Washington and Carver were born slaves, but he did not need to rise from slavery like them and like Joseph. He was snatched from it and brought up as a prince of Egypt. I suppose it was the most enviable position a young man could occupy in those days. Every means that the wealth, culture and education of his day could compass were at his disposal, as well as education in the military tactics of the Egyptian army. Like all the leaders we have reviewed, he was educated, we can only believe, by the influence of a Higher Power for the task before him.

Lincoln, Son Of The Poor

Lincoln came up from the very poor. He knew the abject poverty of blacks and whites in his home state and it aroused in him a great pity. Churchill came of a militant family and he saw its threat long before the storm broke and tried to warn his people. Like most prophets, he had a thankless task. Roosevelt grew through suffering and fighting to conquer his own disability. It made him ready to persevere in fighting to help others.

Moses, like Churchill and Roosevelt, at first spoke to deaf ears. The enslaved Israelites were suspicious of one who had enjoyed all the benefits of luxuries of Egypt while they, beaten, starved and generally abused, only existed. But Moses, like all prophets—and these men we've been thinking of were all prophets in their way and Moses more than most, had a God-given urge to free the enslaved. Moses, in some ways, was a thankless task. The children of Israel had lost touch with many of their traditions. They had no time to learn—only to labor. They were suspicious of every outsider as spies of Pharaoh and in spite of Moses' marvelous power and miracles, he had many rebellions on his hands. But I think of all the leaders we have considered, Moses gave us the most. Lincoln gave us the wonderful Gettysburg address; Churchill and Roosevelt gave us—in theory at least—the Four Freedoms, but Moses gave us the Ten Commandments.

No matter what laws are passed by any government, no matter how we try to deal with crime, with juvenile delinquency or marital unhappiness; no matter what troubles arise between management and labor, between state and state or home and home, if we could all read, learn and inwardly digest the digest of the Ten Commandments as epitomized in "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and thy neighbor as thyself", I have no doubt that a state bordering on the kingdom of heaven could be reached. At any rate, Moses still speaks to us in the Ten Commandments and his vision and his leadership seem as real to us today as that of those of more recent date.

Boys Catch Gold Fish
As Fairy Lake Drained

By GOLDEN GLOW

If anyone was around the south-end of the town the latter part of last week, especially on Friday evening, they would naturally slip over and see what all the excitement was on the Water St. bridge. We were down that way so went a few steps farther to see the sight that is only seen "once in a blue moon"—the pond with all the water being drained off.

Yes, the sluices of the dam were open and our dear old Fairy Lake looked anything but fairy-like, or even a lake. It was just a horrible looking mud-hole. I think half the town managed to get there and see the pond while it was being drained.

Every so often the Office Specialty has to run the water off so they can clean out what we used to call the "mill race" which branches off at the north-east end of the pond, flows under the C.N.R. track and then flows in under the buildings and out into the creek beyond Timothy St. In the old days it was used to turn the wheel for a grist mill which originally occupied that site. Resor's mill I think it was called. I understand it was a very busy spot till it was destroyed by fire. Somebody told me that the Office Specialty still keeps the mill race as an added fire protection.

Everyone There

Yes, I think everyone in town who knew about it, and could arrange to go and see it, was down there last weekend. If you did not go you will have to wait for a few more years to see it minus the water, for it is now filled up again. It is such a surprise to see it drained. You fancy looking at it from up on the hill, or from the corner of Main and Water Sts., that it must be quite deep. Maybe that is just a "hang-over" from our youthful days when we were always being warned about going skating on it too soon. All the same, there have been drownings there so naturally we thought it must be quite deep. One person living up on the hill said that from her home it looked like snow, but she knew it was just the mud glistening in the moonlight. You think it looks quite a size when the water is in full, all blue reflections all over it from the sun, and little breeze. We love our old pond!

But the comical part about it all was the small boys down below catching goldfish! There were big boys, small boys and even girls, all so intent on catching the beauties. Maybe you don't know our pond was full of goldfish—like a great big, natural fish bowl! In that cloud-burst in Aurora some years ago a goldfish hatchery was swept away and ever since then, all the streams leading from there have been the home of goldfish.

Just what the small boys—and the boys not so small—intend to do with their catch, I'm sure I don't know. But it was a sight to see them last Friday night with buckets and nets wading in without even taking off shoes and stockings. I wonder if the goldfish were worth what they'd catch when they reached home!

It was dusk when we were there and the fishermen were still busy below the falls and down the stream. It was such a pretty sight, the water rippling over the stones and the beautiful willows making wonderful shadows.

Goldfish Vs. Carp

As we stood there, Joe McCullery came and stood beside us—and it was from him I learned the answer to something that had puzzled me greatly. I said I thought the big carp had cleared out the goldfish years ago and to my surprise, he told me it was just the reverse. It was the goldfish that had cleared out the carp!

It seems that the goldfish ate up the carp spawn till finally there were none left. I recall years ago seeing huge carp that had been caught there. Our former famous fisherman, the late Tom Turan, used to catch them I know, for I've seen some he caught. I wish the present pond was like the dear old pond of our childhood days used to be, or is it that I looked at it with different eyes in those days. It was a source of enjoyment winter and summer. Believe it or not, but I have gone up pond in a motor boat. I'm afraid one could not do that nowadays!

LIBRARY CORNER

By CAROLINE E. ION

After many weeks of absence, we return to the Library Corner and this week consider two books greatly differing in subject matter from the shelves of the Newmarket public library. The Boy I Left Behind Me, by Stephen Leacock, is the author's recollections from his early childhood to his 20th year. Stephen Leacock had originally intended to write a complete autobiography and at the time of his death in 1914 had finished what were to be the first four chapters of this book. Those four chapters comprise this volume and are written in the author's characteristically friendly and confidential manner.

Farm Life Near Sutton

Many amusing anecdotes relating to his early life in England and on a farm near Sutton are woven into this conversationally-toned biography. The only regret of the reader is that the untimely passing of the author cut short this stimulating and amusing account of his life.

The general accounts of life in the Lake Simcoe district during the last part of the 19th century and the brief but descriptive references to Newmarket and Sutton will prove most interesting to the readers in this district. Leacock's usual wide vein of humor lightens the entire story.

The second book, Careers for Women in Canada by Gabrielle Carriere, is a practical guide for any girl faced with the difficult problem of deciding her "life's work". Both these books are products of Canadian writers but whereas The Boy I Left Behind Me looks backward, this second book points the way to a profitable and satisfying future.

General information regarding necessary qualifications and applications for employment as well as discussions of every field of work into which women now enter are included in this book. Each occupation is dealt with thoroughly with the chances of advancement being considered. Lists of references where further particulars can be procured are also included. This is an excellent reference book and strongly recommended to the new high school students.

H. E. Lambert, Manager

Veteran Of Indian Missions, H. L. Puxley At Roche's Pt.

H. L. Puxley, who now preaches at the Roche's Point Anglican church, was for eight years professor of economics at St. John's College in Agra, India and the chief concern of his work there was the economic problems of the missionary fields. Mr. Puxley sailed for India with his wife in 1932, when he started his work with the missionary society of the Church of England.

Born in England, he was educated at Eton and Brasenose College, Oxford and from 1929 to 1932 he attended Yale, obtaining his M.A. degree on a Commonwealth fellowship. In 1932 he was married in Toronto to the daughter of Judge Sedgewick and after the wedding they sailed for Agra (where the Taj Mahal was built).

In 1940 he joined the Indian army and was discharged in May, 1940, after which with his wife and three children, he came to Canada to make their home. At present Mr. Puxley is engaged in theological studies at Trinity College, University of Toronto.

While at St. John's College he was engaged in research with the aim of raising the economic status of the church. "The poverty of the church is as much an obstacle as heathenism," said Mr. Puxley. The principle behind his work was to tackle the economic problems first, before preaching.

No Change Seen
Mr. Puxley said that the political situation of India is unlikely to change.

The situation adds up to the fact that this is the chance for Canada to step in and take the place of England in its missionary commitments in the East, said Mr. Puxley.

He feels a strong national sentiment for Canada and says that it may seem at times that Canadians by adoption, like himself, are sometimes more enthusiastic about national development and prestige.

When asked an opinion of Nehru, Mr. Puxley considered him a great Eastern leader with both national and international vision and a man who would win a voice for the East in world affairs. Nehru has shown his abilities in international politics in the recent Pan-India conference, the east-Asia regional conference, which has been set on a permanent basis similar to the Pan-American.

OF GARDENS, RADIO AND GOATS' MILK

By GOLDEN GLOW

Last Saturday, I was treated to a visit in another lovely garden—this time it was on the outskirts of town, north of our lovely cemetery. It was the joint garden of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Coombs and Mrs. Coombs' mother, Mrs. Frank Trusty. Any old-timer of Newmarket, like myself, will know if it is a garden of any of the Trusty family that it will be extra special, for the first Mr. Trusty, if my memory serves me well was a gardener in England before coming to our town. If I also can depend on my memory it was Mr. Trusty, Sr., who was gardener to Hon. E. J. Davis, and later to Mr. Aubrey and Mr. E. J. Davis, Jr.—and nobody can doubt it was a master gardener who looked after those grand gardens in the early days. So when I was invited to see the lovely garden of his daughter-in-law, and granddaughter I knew I was in for a treat!

What is that old rhyme about folks who attain results in this world. "They bend their backs and dig" — and I assure you that this lovely garden must have meant a good deal of work, for it is along the side of a steep hill. It has been laid out in terraces with fruit trees above, then the vegetable garden next, and divided by a wire trellis with Mexican sunflowers and amaranthus (Love-Lies-Bleeding) forming a floral hedge. Then comes a series of terraces with a central stairway of flat stones and cement. It is a mass of flowers of every sort, perennials and annuals. Sweet alyssum and portulaca, dwarf nasturtiums, verbena and candy tuft on the edge and quantities of petunias of every shade, from velvety purple ones and the lovely Rosy Morn to long-stemmed pure white ones.

Wide Variety
I just can't begin to describe the different flowers — zinnias, China asters, marigolds — there seemed to be every flower that ever grew — and so few of us have room for, especially the large pink flowered hibiscus that Mr. Frank Trusty planted, but was not spared to see flower. They are wonderful large, showy flowers, but are not very satisfactory for bouquets as they soon fade. However, out-of-doors, they are a handsome addition to any garden. They belong to the mallow family which are mostly tall. It has been years since I saw any. My aunt used to have them in her lovely old-fashioned garden.

This garden had more attractions than just the flowers and I know that that garden is a joy from early spring to late frost, for there were about 30 or more peony plants up along the hill, near the fruit trees — yes, and two charming little goats broussing there, adding a delightfully rural touch to a very pretty picture! There was also a large square sand-box for the wee chappie — and he played there happily as we later sat in the shade on a comfortable garden swing and looked over a huge pile of post-cards, from all over the world, for Mr. and Mrs. Coombs are greatly interested in amateur broadcasting, and Mr. Coombs has built himself a receiving tower. I won't display my ignorance any further as regards radio, but was I ever interested in those post-cards and the foreign stamps attached. Iraq and Iran, Morocco, Egypt, Finland and South Africa — oh dear what a delightful way to learn geography! Then when we went inside for a cup of tea and Mrs. Coombs demonstrated her radio receiving set, I was nearly speechless when her call was answered in a few minutes from Spain.

There was a high walnut tree in front of Mrs. Trusty's that grew from a nut her father-in-law brought from Sir Wm. Mullock's estate on Yonge St. when he helped plant Sir William's plantation. I bet they will have plenty of squirrels after the nuts, for we have several walnut trees near us, and little walnut trees are growing up everywhere, planted by the squirrels, and they fairly haunt our place. And one thing more, I was also treated to my first taste of goats' milk, ice cold from the refrigerator, and now I am not so sure Mahatma Gandhi isn't a connoisseur of good things for that glass of goat's milk tasted like the milk you get from a coconut.

"Just listen... to Suzy's new engine?"

HER NEW ENGINE has given the "Suzy M." a new lease on life. Now she gets out to the fishing grounds in double-quick time, and the hours saved mean her daily catch is just that much bigger.

A bank loan made all the difference. And the extra money Suzy's owner is making will soon pay off the cost of the engine.

Local bank managers along Canada's coasts are eager to help their neighbours catch fish, by making bank credit available for the purchase of engines, nets and other gear. Not only do they take care of funds left in their charge but they also supply credit to local businessmen, sawmill operators, farmers, people in every walk of life.

THIS IS ONE INSTANCE OF how Canada's 3,200 branch banks play their part in the daily life and work of Canadians.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT YOUTHS REMANDED IN EVES' BREAK-IN

Newmarket—Two Newmarket youths, accused of breaking into and entering the offices of W. H. Eves and Co. early Labor Day morning, were remanded for a week for trial when they were arraigned before Magistrate O. S. Hollinrake, O.B.E., in magistrate's court on Friday morning. C. H. Kerr, Newmarket, defending one of the youths, requested the adjournment on behalf of his client while Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong asked for the remand in the case of the other youth. Bail was set at $1,000 for each.

A youth, 17, of Woodstock was convicted of stealing a car at Aurora on August 24. Newell G. Depencier, Aurora, was the owner of the car. The youth was remanded for a week for sentence.

Depencier said he first noticed the car had been taken from in front of his home at about 6 a.m. on August 24. Constable John Evans, Hamilton, said that at about 6:20 a.m. on August 24 he received a call to investigate an accident in Hamilton. He said he found that a car similar in make and model to Depencier's had left the road and hit a tree. "The accused was lying on the ground to the rear and slightly to the right of the car," he said.

Did Not Remember

"There were no keys in the ignition and I found that the ignition wires had been crossed. The accused was removed to the hospital suffering minor injuries and when we questioned him he said the car belonged to his brother. He said he did not remember every time we asked any other question."

Wallace Cattell, Dundas, said he had been driving an ambulance in the opposite direction and had seen the car hit the tree but he could not identify the driver. He said he had been on an emergency call and had not been able to stop to give assistance but that he had noticed there was only one man in the car.

An assault charge against Bert McDermott, Beeton, was dismissed. Donald McArthur said that on July 26 at Schomberg, McDermott had struck him twice during an argument and that as a result of the blows he had required medical attention and his hearing had been affected. Willard Taylor, Lloydstown, and Raymond Woods, Schomberg, corroborated.

McDermott said he had argued with McArthur but that McArthur had thrown the first punch. "I stepped inside the blow and then hit him. I have a sickness in my face and I can't take a beating there," William Jordan corroborated.

Magistrate Hollinrake said the argument had apparently developed to such a pitch that it was hard to tell who struck the first blow.

Remanded On $200 Bail

Raymond Smith, Toronto, was remanded in custody for a week subject to $200 bail when he was arraigned on charges of stealing a watch from Harry Squibbs, Aurora, and two cheques from Mrs. Harry Squibbs.

Douglas G. Stafford and Reginald D. Baggett, Toronto, were each convicted of careless driving on motorcycles on the Newmarket-Sutton highway. Stafford pleaded guilty.

Constable Joseph Jardine said the two had been riding in an irregular manner, nearly causing an accident. He said the traffic at the time had been heavy and that Stafford had been the worst offender. Stafford was fined $15 and his license was suspended for two months while Baggett was fined $10 and his license was suspended for one month.

George H. Dawson, Woodville, was fined $10 and costs or 30 days when he was convicted of having an open case of beer in his car at Willow Beach. Constable B. Burbidge laid the charge.

Gets Four-Year Sentence In Sutton Post Office Theft

Newmarket—Alvin Taborn, 23, remanded in custody for judgment last week following his trial on charges of receiving cash, postal notes, postage stamps, unemployment insurance stamps, money order blanks, registered two date stamps and the registered mail receipt book, which were stolen from the Sutton post office on August 16, was convicted on Friday and sentenced to four years' imprisonment by Magistrate O. S. Hollinrake, O.B.E., K.C. Evelyn Hubbert, alias Evelyn Taborn, who was jointly charged, was found not guilty.

Alternative charges that the pair broke into the post office and stole the goods were withdrawn at the request of the crown. Arthur Maloney represented the two accused prior to judgment. They were unrepresented at their trial last week.

Chief evidence given against the pair at their trial was that of Constable R. Lewis of the Toronto morality squad who said that on August 18, in the company of two other constables, he had searched the room occupied by Taborn and Mrs. Hubbert and found all of the stolen goods with the exception of one money order, potentially worth $100, secured in a suitcase and a drawer. Postmaster Clifford Thompson said $14 money order blanks had been stolen.

Evidence Of Wife

On Friday Magistrate Hollin-

rake acceded to Mr. Maloney's request that he be allowed to have Mrs. Hubbert give evidence. Mrs. Hubbert said the suitcase in which the stolen goods were found belonged to her common law husband, Taborn, and that she never used it. She said Taborn had put some of her clothes in the bag to help cover the stolen goods but that she did not know the stolen goods were there.

Mr. Maloney said Taborn had been in the army five and a half years, four and a half of which were spent overseas. He said Taborn has been convicted on three previous occasions of petty thefts but had only served one 30-day term. He said that the post office break-in was not the type of crime which was common enough that its prevalence necessitated severe punishment.

Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong asked that a heavy penalty be imposed. "While it was Taborn's first 'high priced' crime, it was also intended to be a cold, calculated, scientific racket," he said.

"It is not a common case," Magistrate Hollinrake said. "The average citizen has a great respect for anything which belongs to His Majesty or to His Majesty's government. It is difficult to impose the sentence which the crime merits in view of Taborn's army service, especially his overseas service."

Mt. Albert-Born Doctor Given 10-Room Hospital

For 35 years Dr. W. G. Mainprize has given medical service to the community of Midale, Sask., and many miles of surrounding country. In all kinds of weather, using snowmobile and airplane, Dr. Mainprize has attended the sick and even done surgical operations in outlying farmhouses. His work has taken him to as many as five different municipalities. The people of Midale started the construction of a hospital recently as an assistance to him and a sign of appreciation for his years of work.

Dr. Mainprize was born in Mount Albert and lived there until he was 22 years old, then went to University of Toronto, graduating in 1910. After graduating he went West and has been practising in the Midale district ever since.

A few months ago people in Midale started thinking of rewarding him in some way for his long years of service and a new car or airplane had been suggested. However, it was decided that a more lasting memorial could be found and since there was a great need for a hospital, the community got busy and bought property, a building from a nearby airport and started the foundation. The building had been bought by the Legion but on hearing of the plan for a hospital the Legion surrendered it to the hospital committee.

The able-bodied men of the town pitched into the work of constructing the foundation and moving the building and women's clubs and other organizations began stocking and equipping the hospital.

Dr. Mainprize has been made a member of the board. When finished they will have a modern ten-bed hospital equipped with modern kitchens, nurses' quarters, obstetrical room and doctor's office.

SUMMER RITES

AT PRESTON LAKE

Under a flower-decked arbor on the shores of beautiful Preston Lake, a lovely summer wedding was solemnized on August 30 when Elizabeth Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Preston, Gormley, became the bride of Ralph Kennedy Gilbert, son of Mrs. A. V. Cole, Toronto, and the late Garfield Gilbert.

Miss Geraldine Bolderson, maid of honor, gownned in a floor-length dress of ice blue satin with fitted bodice and gathered skirt and wearing a Dutch cap of matching material, carried an arin bouquet of sweetheart roses and preceded the bridal party down an aisle lined with summer flowers.

She was followed by Miss Sandra McMann, niece of the groom, who wore a long dress of yellow taffeta with a blue and yellow headress and carried a basket of mixed summer flowers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride came down the aisle on which the flower girl had scattered rose petals and gladioli tips, wearing a gown of ivory satin with shirred yoke, ruffled neckline and bracelet sleeves and carrying a cascade bouquet of white gladioli tips. Her long veil of white net over one of ivory heirloom lace fell into a train from a satin headress trimmed with orange blossoms.

Rev. Thomas White officiated while the wedding music was played by Dr. Stanley Gilbert, Newmarket, uncle of the groom. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Herbert Oliver sang I Love You Truly. Grant Gilbert was his brother's groomsmen.

Following the ceremony, the guests were received by Mrs. Preston wearing a gown of paddy green with brown accessories and a corsage of sweetpeas, assisted by the groom's mother who chose navy blue crepe with white accessories and a corsage of white roses. For travelling, Mrs. Gilbert changed to a suit of gray gabardine with paddy green accessories and a corsage of white and pink roses. Following their honeymoon to points in Ontario, they will live in Toronto.

Twinkler Of Walkley Brings Honors To Landing Breeder

Twinkler of Walkley, a Yorkshire terrier, won honors for its owner, Harry Draper, Holland Landing, at the C.N.E. last week. The dog won 11 awards and was the first one to be chosen for the exhibition movies taken at the dog show. Twinkler is three years old and weighs four pounds.

Mr. Draper has been interested in breeding dogs since he was eight years old back in England and has been breeding them in Canada for many years as a hobby. He has bred several kinds of dogs but long ago he started to specialize in Yorkshire terriers because they needed the most care and that made it more interesting to him.

Mr. Draper said that it looks like Twinkler of Walkley is going to be a repetition of Champion Lord Bing of whom Twinkler is a descendant. Lord Bing was the premier toy dog of this continent in his day and Mr. Draper can prove it with his cabinet filled with trophies. In 1925,

Lord Bing won the Toronto Kennel club trophy and won honors for several years after that including the Canadian Kennel club trophy in 1929. It was the best Canadian-bred in international shows.

Last week Twinkler of Walkley won the same Toronto Kennel club honors that Champion Lord Bing did 22 years ago and shows signs of having just as bright a career as its ancestor.

The Yorkshire terrier has a pleasant personality for a small dog and is a pleasing pet. When born it is usually jet black and smooth coated as was Twinkler, but as it matures its color changes from the centre of the back. When it reaches adult color around the age of three it has a blue and tan color.

Twinkler won four ribbons from Canine Breeders, four from Toronto Kennel clubs, three others and a special C.N.E. shield presented by the Toronto Kennel club for the best toy group.

Mr. Draper has been in Holland Landing for nine years where he has the Walkley Kennels. Before that he lived in Toronto. He came to Canada in 1913 and was in the first war. His interest in showing his dogs comes only where there is competition. He has sold Yorkshire terriers to the United States. One dog he sold was poisoned at a show in the States.

Mr. Draper has started breeding Afghan hounds recently and right now has a litter of eight month-old puppies.

ADVERTISE FOR OFFERS TO LEASE AURORA RINK

Aurora—Tenders will be called for the leasing of Aurora arena as a private enterprise for 1947-48 following the unanimous approval of Aurora town council last week to a report moved by Councillors John Sisman and Thomas Swindle. The recommendation called for ample provision for free time, for the schools and Sunday skating in the contract to be drawn, and also asked for full protection from damage to the arena.

"We have two applications now, one tonight from Frank Griffith and one previously from Leslie Benzer. I propose we throw the matter wide open to the public to tender," said Councillor Sisman.

"I want the provisions for recreation already being supplied continued. The big advantage I see to having the rink in private hands is that the town employees will be free to be where they are needed in place of operating the arena," said Councillor Swindle.

"We should show a profit from the arena when we are not supplying labor," said Councillor Davies.

The councillors agreed that the financial picture should be better as a result of leasing. Advertisements will be placed in local and Toronto papers and tenders will close on October 31.

A. E. Bailey Awarded Memorial Scholarship

A. E. Bailey, student minister, who was well known in Newmarket as a Youth for Christ rally leader last year, has been awarded a War Memorial Scholarship in the Faculty of Arts by the Alumni Federation of the University of Toronto.

Mr. Bailey's wife is the former Evelyn Travis of Newmarket.

This is Mr. Bailey's fourth scholarship since he entered university in April last year. He has been doing student ministerial work at Dundalk and Ventry Presbyterian churches.

He served four and a half years in the R.C.A.F. before entering university and has received a bursary from the R.C.A.F. chapter of the I.O.D.E. in recognition of his achievements in the summer session.

C. C. Leitch of Gormley won the Ayshire Breeders' Challenge award with the champion female of class at the C.N.E.

AURORA TOURNAMENTS

Last Wednesday, Sept. 3, the Aurora and district tennis tournament was played off with the following results: Wilfred Adams and Keith Davis defeated Lees Owsam and Stanley Walker 6-3, 6-3. The ladies' doubles were won by Dorothy Bowman and Joyce Bothwell defeating Barbara Mathier and Margaret Davis 6-4, 6-3.

Davis Tans Hoffman's 7-5 In First Industrial Finals

By GEO. HASKETT, JR.

The Industrial league boys have reached the crucial play-off stage with the opener Monday evening when Davis Leather met Hoffman Machinery for the league championship. The tanners drew first blood with a 7-5 victory.

"Don 'Lefty' Glover, Davis' ace southpaw, handcuffed the Machinery men to two hits. Glover mowed the pressmen down in fine style, turning back via the strike-out route, but got into trouble when he couldn't keep his fast ones in the furrow. Glover put six on the bases via the free pass route. Art Dobbie was on the Hoffman firing line. The tannery hitsmiths clipped him for ten safeties. To relieve the pressure on Art Dobbie 'Cecars' McDonald took up the pitching duties for an innings. Strange as it may seem, 'Cecars' fooled the tannery batters completely with his slow-slow ball, sending them down in one, two, three order.

North Yonge All-Stars

Charlie VanZant (New.)
Bill Bowen (Lang.)
No Walsh (New.)
Joint McComb (New.)
Mickey Sutton (Aurora)
Sonny Charles (Lang.)
Sonny Smith (New.)
Jim Crean (R. Hill)
Norm Legge (New.)

Honorable mention: Harold Ehlén (R. Hill); Charlie Case (Aurora); Bill VanZant (New.); Norm Bowen (Lang.); Ed Leroc (Lang.); Tim Saul (R. Hill); George Hodgins (Aurora); Bill Buchanan (R. Hill); Ralph Curtis (Lang.); Loring Doolittle (Aurora); Alf Strong (R. Hill); Roy Russell (Lang.); Wilf White (Aurora); Red Castles (Aurora); Jim Healey (Lang.).

With the softball in North York due to close this week barring rain and all selections in hand, we give out with the North Yonge all-stars. President Douglas May and secretary Hal Rogers came through with two fine choices to make a total of six pickers and we know Doug and Harold won't mind if we don't publish their choices in toto as we wish to complete the details as it is fresh in our mind. As is customary with most all-star choices, there may be some criticism because at the close of the season some of those rated were playing below form. We know 'Cecars' McDonald, who made the first choices six weeks ago, would revamp his line-ups after the Langstaff series, for except for Bill Bowen, Jack didn't place another Langstaff player.

Choices by May and Rogers, on the other hand, are different now than they probably would have been six weeks ago. On the whole, however, the choices take into consideration the whole season and are perhaps as fair as might be expected.

Behind The Plate

The vote for catcher was a fair example of the change in attitude of selectors in recent weeks. Jimmy Armstrong, the dynamic Langstaff catcher who, with Bill Bowen, has been the backbone of that team, won three straight votes for the first team in the last three selections. Before that, he hadn't received a vote due to his infrequent appearance in the Langstaff line-up in the early part of the year. Armstrong's suspension probably cost him a point or two. The veteran Chuck VanZant has been the spark plug of the Vets team and has played consistently all year and with one exception only, he was picked for either team. Harold Ehlén and Charlie Case, two other long service players, both received support. The choice of VanZant and Armstrong as the two best can't be seriously argued about.

Bill Bowen, the speedball king who has yet to turn in a poor game, was unanimous choice for the hilltop. Bowen has been brilliant all year and aside from his local duties, has pitched once or twice a week in Toronto all season. He rates as the best hurler in the Wanless Park senior B league as well.

Andy O'Neill kept Aurora in the running until the end. Not too strong, O'Neill saw too much steady service and in spots he related tops, although wildness often put him in a hole. Bill VanZant had a spotty season, starting and ending the season in great form but slackening off in mid-season. He proved his worth in the play-offs. Joint McComb, in his appearances on the mound, left little to be desired but he was pressed into service at four other posts as well. He did of course hurl the only no-hitter of the season. Teddy Bennett was mentioned but has obviously reached the end of the trail but for two or three innings can match any of them.

Unanimous Choice

Maurice 'Fireman' Walsh, loquacious and battling first sacker of the Newmarket club, along with Bowen was the only other player to be selected for a first team spot by all six.

Walsh had a bad hitting slump in mid-season but has come on again. The veteran Ace Yake and Norm Bowen, a switch-hitter, had a close race for the second team with Yake winning out. Ace didn't play all the Aurora games either. Bowen while not brilliant, is vastly underrated by many and he has played a steady game all year.

Second base saw Joint McComb

in the lead. Actually he received votes for two other positions but his tally was enough to win the first berth from his teammate, elongated Fred Evans. While a nice fielder is not strong at the plate and that went for George Hodgins, Aurora, and Tim Saul of the Hill. Laroc, Langstaff, was playing the second best ball as the season ended.

Mickey Sutton edged out Doug Eves, Newmarket, for third base. Eves took an early lead but as his hitting faded he went down in the votes. Sutton had the best throwing arm in the league and belted the ball hard when he connected. Eves showed the effect of too much softball as the home stretch was reached. Curtis, Langstaff, played sweet ball in the wire drive.

Generally, short stop was regarded along with second as the weak spot in the league. Sonny Charles, Langstaff, while inclined to err at wrong moments, finished the season strongly. A youngster, he has a great future before him. Harvey Gibney, by reason of the fact that he received two first votes for centre field, missed the first team. 'Gib', a converted outfielder, would have won a regular outfield position with ease if he had played there. Loring Doolittle, Aurora, in his first year of softball, was a strong contender for short stop honors.

Smith For Outfield

The veteran Mickey Smith led all outfielders in the votes. Smith who has slowed up considerably, played his position well and was generally a sure catch. At the end of the season his hitting reached low ebb but over the year he hit well. The fleet-footed Norm Legge of the Vets was second choice and Legge has perhaps pulled off the best running catches of the year. Jim Crean of the Hill was a unanimous vote for either first or second on either team and he holds down the third starting post. Earl MacDonald of Aurora and hockeyist Herbie Cain were tied in points for the second team. MacDonald turned in excellent ball for Aurora at first, short and the outfield and was the team's leading hitter, excelling in laying down a bunt. Cain, along with Smith, rating as the oldest outfielder in experience, generally had a fine year but was below par in the play-offs. Art Crean of the Hill won the last outer pasture position as the selectors varied in their choices, no less than four others being named. At the end of the season, the youthful Langstaff outfield was standing up with the best. Healey, who drew but one vote, must rank as one of the most versatile players in the league as he has caught and played third as well with ability. The veteran Whit White didn't play many games, but in his few showings exhibited much of his pre-war cleverness at field.

The 1947 softball season will go down in the books as a successful one, though the coffee pots weren't filled as well as they should have been. The first full peacetime season sees still too many oldsters holding down positions the younger players should be filling.

With no minor softball leagues in action, this is a real problem for the league to face. The public want to see new faces and every team with the possible exception of Langstaff faces many replacements for next season. Maestro Fred Morris, if he can hold his team together for a couple of years, threatens to rule the roost in district softball. Not a bad idea at that for the sake of the league and all concerned.

Buck Fever Slows Girls But After Sarnia's Scalp Now

The Newmarket girls' softball team, having fought their way to the finals in P.W.S.U. like veterans, suffered a severe attack of buck fever when the big game hove into sight and dropped their first of a two-of-three series with Sarnia by an 18-2 score.

More chagrined by their own stage fright than dismayed by the Sarnia outfit, the Newmarket girls are determined to make the next one count on their side of the score sheet as they journey to Sarnia for the second and third games Saturday.

A bus will take them to the western metropolis from Newmarket leaving at 7 a.m. with the first game set for 2 p.m. and the second for 6 p.m.

It took four innings for the Newmarket girls to settle down to playing ball—four innings which saw the Sarnia team run up a 14-run lead. With a better hold on themselves, the Newmarket team rallied in the sixth for their two runs and held the visitors to four runs in the last five innings.

Newmarket's break came when Mary Ellen MacInnis, the lady Frank Merriwell of the previous round with her surprise homer that brought home the bacon, walked to first and made second with Marg VanZant's hit. Lois Manning struck out. Lois Blight reached first on an error and Mary Ellen reached home with the first run. Mary Osborne was put out and Edna McGrath brought Marg VanZant home with a hit.

Say the girls: "If we play ball we can beat 'em. And we are sure going to try."

They know this, at any rate, that they go to Sarnia with the whole town pulling for two wins and the championship.

Getting Confidential

This is the first appearance of "On the Alleys" for this season but it will be running steadily until the spring flowers bloom and the bowlers start cutting down the weeds in the garden instead of the five-pins. But we need the help of you bowlers if we are going to keep this up to date. We can get the scores from the boards, but as you organize, leave a copy of your executive at the alley so we can pick it up for publication. Leave a duplicate of your league standings at the alley and we will pick it up for publication. Leave p.m. Mr. Bray and Mr. Smith will look after it for you and see that it reaches us.

In the meantime, high scores and lots of strikes—Pin-Boy.

TWO-FACED

During the absence of the editor and publisher of a small daily paper, his son took over. Remembering that each morning his father always dropped in on the local judge and inquired how many had been brought into court, he followed the same routine.

"Well, how many faced the judge today?" he jovially asked. "Two," came the answer. "That night the judge was indignant to read in the paper, 'Two Faced Judge.'"

ON THE ALLEYS

By PIN-BOY

It's not exactly the best of weather for indoor bowling but it will take more than a heat spell to keep the enthusiasts from the alleys. It looks like there is going to be a lot of team competition as Arnold Bray at Bowlaway and Joe Smith at Smith's Alleys report heavy bookings.

At Smith's

At the present time, three new alleys are being installed at Smith's, and Mr. Smith expects to be using them before the month's end. In the meantime, here's how the schedule looks at the south end.

A women's league is organizing for Monday night bowling, and two men's leagues have taken over Tuesday and Wednesday night spots. The nurses at York County hospital have the finger on Friday night, and there is pre-season talk of the lady lawn bowlers moving indoors on Tuesday afternoon and Thursday night.

Another league being rumored about is among the Davis Leather lassies, but more of them in the future.

At Bowlaway

The schedule starts at the Bowlaway next week for town bowlers but the Mount Albert enthusiasts, with an almost double entry this year, have been bowling since a week ago Monday.

A Davis men's league opens up on Tuesday and the women follow on Wednesday nights. Office Specialty is talking league bowling on a Thursday night.

Vets, Langstaff In Two Ties As Series Nears Climax

By GEO. HASKETT, JR.

Well! Well! Well! Another tie. Newmarket Vets and Langstaff failed to declare a winner at Pantry Park Tuesday evening, the tilt ending in a draw, the score Newmarket 3, Langstaff 3. Looking over the situation as it stands at present, five games have been played in the finals. Langstaff emerged the victors on two occasions. The Vets came out on top in one contest. Two have wound up in a tie.

The series is fast developing into one of the hottest play-off finals in the annals of North York softball. They resume the argument tonight at Langstaff.

Again, Tuesday evening was a pitchers' battle, Bill VanZant and Bill Bowen meeting in the tightest kind of a hurling duel.

The Vets spotted Langstaff two runs in the first frame. The McDonald men got those back in the second to tie the issue, thanks to some great clutch hitting by Chuck VanZant. "Joint" McComb stroled to first to open the innings. Freddie Dillman beat an infield hit. Chuck VanZant stepped in and thumped one of Bowen's pitches over second, scoring both runners.

The men of McDonald climbed into a one-run lead in the fourth, Moe Walsh getting a life when Bowen fumbled his ground ball. Two were out at a time. Normie Legge came through with a double to score Walsh.

Langstaff deadlocked the issue at 3-3, carding a single run in the fifth when right fielder Hughes scampered across the plate on Norm Bowen's safe blow into right field. Here matters rested until the final out was recorded in the seventh.

The Vets threatened to take it in the seventh. Mickey Smith led off with a double but was left stranded on second when Bowen bore down to strike out McComb, Dillman and force Freddie Evans to ground out second to first.

Normie Legge moved into the fielding spotlight with a jumping catch off Sonny Charles' long drive. Normie made the catch at the edge of the creek in right field to keep the hit-hungry Langstaff short stopper from a sure four-sacker. Moe Walsh clicked in a big way in the third with an unassisted double play. Walsh snared a hot one from Norm Bowen and stepped on first to double Armstrong off the base.

Mickey Smith and Freddie Evans wielded the most potent bats for the Vets with two hits apiece.

Summary: Langstaff, 3 runs, 6 hits, 3 errors, 3 left on; Newmarket, 3 runs, 8 hits, 1 error, 9 left on.

Umpires: Summers and Ahlhusen.

By GEO. HASKETT, JR.

Newmarket Vets and Langstaff battled through seven innings to a 1-1 deadlock at Langstaff Thursday evening. This was carded as the fourth game of the finals in the North York League. The tie will make it necessary for the teams to do it all over again.

It was a lively game, producing some of the best softball of the season. Fred Morris, Langstaff's manager, sent his ace twirler, Bill Bowen, to the box. "Cecars" McDonald countered with his right-hander, Bill VanZant. Without a doubt it was a pitchers' duel. VanZant held a slight edge over his rival when the chips were in and counted. The McDonald men reached Bowen for seven hits. Bill VanZant got Langstaff down with six. The Vets played errorless ball afield. Langstaff was guilty of three miscues.

The Vets got their single run in the initial frame. Moe Walsh, lead-off man, made first on an infield error. Normie Legge followed with a smashing double. "Mickey" Smith singled to load the bases and none out. Bowen settled down, whiffing "Joint" McComb and Harv. Gibney but faltered momentarily to walk Chuck VanZant to force in the lone run.

The canaltown looked to be headed for another tally in the second. But it was not to be. "Joint" McComb reached first when Bill Bowen muffed his grounder. Harv. Gibney poked his bat into one of Bowen's fast balls for a triple. McComb, coming all the way from first, was nipped at the plate on a close one.

Langstaff shoved over their run in the fourth. It came as the result of three hits. Army Armstrong and Bill Bowen got successive singles. Bill VanZant forced the next two Langstaffers to fly out but Healy didn't help matters for the Vets when he uncorked a double to score Armstrong. With two on and two out at this juncture Catcher Chuck VanZant came to rescue of Brother Bill with a diving catch of a pop fly along the third base line. With the exception of this spot of trouble Bill VanZant was going great guns striking out five of the last nine batters to face him.

Outfielders Doug. Eves and Normie Legge along with Chuck VanZant's diving catch provided the fielding highlights. Eves came up with a one-hand catch that was out of this world. Normie Legge covered plenty of ground to drag down Healy's drive in the seventh. This blow had home-run written all over it but Normie took it in his stride.

Curtis at third and left-fielder Russell kept the Yonge St. boys in the hunt with snar fielding performances. Curtis snared a liner off the bat of Bill VanZant that looked like a sure single. Russell tore over near the foul line to rob Freddie Dillman of a hit.

In the hitting department Normie Legge and Doug. Eves kept the scorer busy with two hits each. The other safe blows fell to Moe Walsh, "Mickey" Smith and Harv. Gibney. For the Langstaff nine, it was Bill Bowen leading the parade with two, both singles.

Cole, Greta Garbo, Stella Antidale, H. B. Pitt, King William, Picardy, Rosa Van Lima, Aladdin, Court's Orchid, W. R. Reader and Marguerite.

In reds, from scarlet to darkest maroon, Beacon, American Commander, Stop Light, Red Charm, Timbuctoo and Black Opal. In the lavender, violet and purple classes: Badger Beauty, Max Reger, King Lear, Lavender Ruffles, Purple Beauty and Blue Admiral.

In the class called smokey which includes ash, bronze and copper tones we have Bagdad, Chief Multnomah, R. B. Reendo and Zuni.

When well grown, any one of these can give a good account of itself at the shows. In fact I notice that three of them are included in the seven top ranking glads for last year, Red Charm being second and Lady Jane and Greta Garbo sixth and seventh. The other four are much higher in price.

This may seem like a long list but there are so many hundreds to choose from and many shades I just couldn't keep it as short as I intended. However, if you make a choice from these you'll have admiring neighbors coming around to see your glad patch.

DE-HAILER WANTED

Hailstones are particularly sovereign in Italy and cause millions of lire of damage to crops. Hence the president of the Milan Fair Association has offered 100,000 lire at next year's exposition to any one who can devise a method for preventing hailstorms. Two suggestions have been made public and pronounced unacceptable. One is anti-aircraft barrage aimed to explode in the middle of the offending cloud. The other is the use of the now too-familiar atom bomb. The atom bomb seems to be running first as a universal panacea for all men's ills.

Always listen to the opinions of others; it probably won't do you any good, but it will them.
